Put Logbook on your home screen.

Logbook works just like an app — you only have to pin it once. Open logbook.fit on your phone, follow the steps for your device below, and from then on it's one tap from your home screen: full screen, no browser bars, always up to date.

On iPhone & iPad

USING SAFARI — REQUIRED ON IOS

1

Open logbook.fit in Safari

It has to be Safari — Chrome and other iPhone browsers can't pin sites to the home screen.

The square with the arrow, in the bar at the bottom of the screen.

Tap here

3

4

Confirm — and you're set

Tap “Add” (or “Install”). Logbook now sits on your home screen.

One tap away

Straight from your home screen to today's workout — no typing, no searching.

Feels like an app

Opens full screen with no browser bars — just Logbook and your training.

Always up to date

No downloads, no updates, no storage used. New features appear automatically.

GOOD TO KNOW

Don't see the option on iPhone?

Make sure you're in Safari, not inside another app's browser (e.g. a link opened from Instagram or Messenger). Open Safari and type logbook.fit yourself.

Using Samsung Internet?

Tap the ≡ menu → Add page to → Home screen.

Do I need to log in again?

Only the first time you open it from the icon — after that you'll stay signed in as usual.

Want it gone?

Press and hold the icon and remove it, like any app. Your account and training data are untouched.

GRAB YOUR PHONE

Scan to open logbook.fit

Point your camera at the code, open the link, then follow the steps for your phone — you'll be set up in under two minutes.
